Finishing Strong

It's a big deal. The first year of college can be a year of tumultuous change, uncertainty, and anxiety. It can also be a year of unparalleled intellectual, social, and emotional growth. The noted scholar Vincent Tinto identified three stages of development which occurs throughout the first year. The first stage is separation, in which students physically and/or emotionally move away from their former environment. Second, the transition stage is characterized by students feeling torn in their allegiances between their old environment and their new one. Finally, incorporation is the stage in which students now feel a full-fledged member of their new environment. In short, the first year can be a roller coaster ride for both students and their families.

As this first year of college comes to a close, take time to recognize what you and your student have accomplished. Ragin' Cajuns love a good celebration, so now is the time to take a few moments to reflect and celebrate. Here are some of topics you may wish to discuss with your students in wrapping up the first year and preparing for the second:

- ❖ Let your student know that you recognize the changes that have occurred. Reinforce that completing the first year is an accomplishment. This can help remind your student that education is important in your family's values.
- ❖ Talk with them about the classes they have taken this year. What were their favorite courses? What classes gave them trouble? Help them to put this into the context of the greater issue of their future life's work. How certain are they about their choice of major? Changing majors after the first year can often be done without substantially increasing the length of time they will be in school.
- ❖ Ask your student how he/she feels about their level of engagement with UL Lafayette. Have they found students clubs or activities in which they feel comfortable? Have they discovered student organizations that may help them to develop résumé building skills and experiences or to network? Have they found a circle of friends? If not, encourage them to look at the UL Lafayette Get Involved website for a list of student groups and/or attend activities such as Get on Board Day in the fall.

These and other celebrations and family discussions over the summer months may help your student to continue to feel connected to UL Lafayette and return for their sophomore year refreshed and focused.

The Big Event is UL Lafayette's largest community service project, and work is already well under way to make the 2016 event one to remember. Inspired by the original event at Texas A&M, The Big Event has expanded, now being held at hundreds of college campuses in the United States, as well as locations in Spain, Germany, Italy, and Pakistan! Ragin' Cajuns have a deep devotion to the Acadiana community, and The Big Event is their way of giving back as a thank you. Since The Big Event arrived at UL Lafayette in 2013, some 8,100 Ragin' Cajuns have given back thus far. With around 3,000 students a year volunteering their time on a single day, it truly is one of the easiest ways for students to get involved on campus and make new friends.

October 22, 2016, will mark the fourth time this student-run project has been held on campus. To organize and run this program is a monumental undertaking, but our students always rise to the challenge. They are already hard at work fundraising, recruiting, and lining up project sites as well as sponsors. If you are part of a business, or know of a business who might be interested in becoming a sponsor, additional information can be located on The Big Event's donation and sponsorship page. The student executive board will be publishing information pertinent to students throughout the summer and fall months. In order to stay up to date, please feel free to connect with The Big Event by following it on the social media links below.

We firmly believe in the ideals and principles that guide The Big Event mission. Please encourage your son or daughter to join his/her classmates in giving one big thanks, on one big day, as a part of one big event.

Tips for Passing Finals

- Make a study schedule and stick to it.
- Use mnemonic devices.
- Choose study locations wisely.
- Don't reread the entire course textbook.
- Actually look at your notes again.
- Make sure to get sleep. Don't pull all-nighters.
- Study socially by organizing study groups.
- Don't assume that you already know the material.

We're All Family

You can support your son or daughter and the University of Louisiana at Lafayette by wearing red each Friday! And encourage your son or daughter to wear red on Fridays as well. It shows support for our university.

Still need that Ragin' Cajun Gear? Check out the wide array of apparel available at the University Bookstore located in the Student Union.

Acing Final Exams

Your student has now been in college for roughly nine months and you probably feel pretty proud of him or her. However, the academic calendar is ten months, not nine. A tendency amongst all college students when returning from spring break is to “check out” until summer hits.

Passing finals is a pretty important step in making it to summer. One of the top things you can do to help prepare your student for finals is simply ask them when their finals are. The last few weeks are filled with project and paper deadlines, so studying for finals tends to be pushed to the back burner. Asking them about their finals schedule makes them begin to think about it and plan out their study schedule. The schedule for final exams can be located on the University Registrar's website. Passing finals is one of the most important things your student will have to do each year. Help us give them the tools they need to succeed!

Cutting the Nets

One of the greatest triumphs and most well known traditions in modern sports is the cutting of the nets. What better way to remember a magical basketball finale than keeping what ushered in your success? At least that is what the Ragin' Cajun Women's Basketball team has to say.

Following a shaky regular season where the Lady Cajuns went 20-9 overall and 13-7 in the Sun Belt Conference, they landed an offer to compete in the Women's Basketball Invitational post season tournament. The Lady Cajuns brought some spring life to Earl K. Long Gym by defeating in-state rivals the Northwestern State Demons 69-54, the Stetson Hatters 56-47, and the Youngstown State Penguins 69-49 en route to the championship game. Facing a tough Weber State Wildcat team the Lady Cajuns pulled off the 87-85 win in double overtime to earn their second straight WBI Championship title.

Junior Keke Veal of Opelousas was named the Most Valuable Player of the game. The winning shot that sealed the game came from junior Sylvana Okde of Houston. Sophomore Simone Fields along with seniors Keke Veal and Kia Wilridge were named to the all-tournament team. The Lady Cajuns closed the season out with a bang, finishing with a record of 25-10.

Resources for the Sophomore Year

Many first-year students spend the summer months away from academics, working summer jobs or relaxing. This is often a necessary respite from the rigors of academia. Come August, encourage your student to reconnect and re-engage right away by utilizing any of these campus resources.

1) Career Counseling and Career Services:

- If your student remains uncertain about his or her major, there are plenty of resources available to help your student explore and decide.
- For those who have made the decision, Career Services can help identify internships or part-time job opportunities in your student's field of study.
- Networking! This is the year to start attending on-campus career fairs and networking events.

2) Academic Advising:

- Your student can meet with an advisor to ensure that he or she is on track to graduate on time.

3) Academic Success Center:

- The place to go for tutoring or supplemental instruction. For those with strong GPAs, consider looking here for a position as a tutor.

4) The Office of Student Engagement and Leadership:

- Sophomore year is the time to take an active role in leadership and service opportunities. These kinds of experiences lead to greater satisfaction while in college and better jobs upon graduation.

In Theory – Reflections on the University Experience

The arrival of warmer temperatures in South Louisiana means one thing: spring will soon give way to summer, at which time your son or daughter will no longer be a college freshman. The past nine months has no doubt been an emotional roller coaster for both you and your child, but never forget the value of those experiences in your child’s life. In the words of Kenyan photojournalist Dan Eldon, “the journey is the destination.” On the day your child walks across the stage to receive that diploma, it won’t be the piece of paper that qualifies them to enter the work force, it will be the knowledge they gained and experiences they faced which will truly warrant their entry as active participants in our global community.

The members of the Office of the First-Year Experience have walked the first leg of the journey with you and your child, but the time has come to part ways. We will always cherish the moments we shared with you and your child, but as Marianne Williamson said, “every ending is but a new beginning.” We must return to the start line to usher in the freshman class of 2020 while you and your child must continue on to reach the finish line. This chapter has come to a close, but there are still great stories of college yet to be written. We thank you for the honor and privilege of knowing your child and wish you the best as you move forward in life. Should your child ever need assistance, please remind them that OFYE’s door is always open to any student. Should you yourself ever require assistance, please contact Dana Bekurs, the Assistant Director of OFYE. Thank you for your support of the Office of First-Year Experience at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette and Geaux Cajuns!
